

Kaci Shea
Sales Coordinator

Sales Coordinator Kaci Shea began her career at the Lodge shortly after graduating from high school, when she worked as a server in the dining room. While attending college at Montana State University she returned to the lodge to work every summer, eventually accepting a full-time position in 2007.

On a typical day Kaci might talk on the phone and answer questions from guests, coordinate a mailing, attend a staff meeting, field inquiries from the web site and take care of details for groups; she especially enjoys the interaction with the Lodge's visitors. "We develop relationships with our guests pretty easily, and many of them return for repeat visits," she says. "I'm fortunate because I get so much positive feedback in this position; our guests rave about our setting and activities, the food, the accommodations – and especially, our friendly and attentive staff."

Kaci loves the outdoors and enjoys hiking, fly fishing and skiing. "Being from this area originally, it's a joy for me to work for a company that believes in preserving a place that I love," she says. "I believe the Lodge at Sun Ranch can be a model for other businesses, to show that you can be environmentally conscious, make responsible decisions and also be very successful."
